I wrote you in another letter, when people begin in meditation do have this 'chaos', which is not only their own mind, but something the enemy enforces too. With actual inhalations of 500 fire breaths, in complete awareness on how to do it, I don't know how come this can be safe. As for the rest, I have had these experiences with chaos, binding, attacks that went physical, other people etc. All I can tell you is to keep going. You need to use the runes Algiz or Berkano or both. Fight back like Serpentfire666 told you. Inhale Satanic fire, condense it and let it go onto them.

Or surround them with Satanic energy and keep affirming that Satan's Will is executed upon them. Keep just saying it and visualizing the blue flames. When you feel you're under attack, affirm: "I am inhaling Satanic energy into the soul of the person attacking me". The psychic shit will meet a dead end. Don't measure your power on how many attacks you receive. If you do, you leave some hole from which the enemy gets to you. They can't and won't interfere in all the affairs of somebody all the time. All they do is make you think of this, believe it, then see it unfolding in your life and feel terror.

Hello, I posted this before and have continued doing what i have been doing. I keep up my aura of protection, do my meditations daily, practice the kaballah, do yoga, and about 500 breaths of fire in one session and practice my visualization, etc. For a while now, things have been improving. However, I continuously hear the same beings trying to bribe me with money, they interfere in my spell workings, interfere in my communications with the gods, basically in all my endeavors. Even when doing my meditations I have to continuously remove enemy link I feel attach to me while doing them. > Yesterday night while going to bed after doing my meditations and yoga I saw images of various kinds of greys. Some with long skinny faces, other short, etc, etc. Then felt beings poking me. > I asked if they were greys they said I was right. Then asked if they were enemy nordics they said I was right. Then proceeded to offer me money, and I think at the cost of my empowerment. Of course, I said no. > > I still try to continue to communicate telepathically with the gods, and have had success in the past until the last few months. I asked about this before and got some suggestions. Also, i program the dwelling I reside in to keep them out, but they interfere with that as well. Meaningless to say, they are not on our side. > > Does anyone else have anything to add. > > Mind you, I'm not scared just a little bit annoyed, and I understand it is due to my progression and them feeling that I am a threat to them. Oh yeah, it got worse when I was thinking of the various prophetic dreams I've had throughout my life, like they understood them and got really worried. Regardless, I'll continue with what I have been doing. I know that is what scares them the most. > > I prefer not to ask this, but I'm not entirely sure as to what else to do. Can someone possibly aid in this. I hope I don't need help because I am trying to become my own god. And I am beginning to think I am getting much closer. >
