Message from High Priest Hooded Cobra 666:

The entire site has been updated. In addition to many grammar corrections, there are also some big structural updates. This has been the ground and framework upon which now we will proceed with most anticipated content updates.

This update includes:

- There is now a search box on the homepage. It works best on perfect matches in the title of a page, but the full text of our 800+ pages is searched too. Partial matches and misspellings will often work. Note that a result marked with less than 99% will not contain the exact search text.
- The internal structure has been reorganized and many pages are at new locations. However, all old links will be redirected to the new location. If your browser warns you that the page is redirecting to a different website, let it continue, this is normal.
- Many lost pages and files are now restored, and most broken links are now fixed! Two of the highlights are Hell's Army 666 and the Audio MP3s.

We thank wholeheartedly the brother Soaring Eagle 666, as he did major labor so that this project would be actualized. Lydia, other members who have contributed with finding bugs or mistakes, and of course Satanic Eagle for the graphics which have been redone and polished.

This should act as testament and example of what we can collectively achieve. Most won't understand the massive amount of work that this took out of people, especially Soaring Eagle who created a perfect back-end for all the HTML pages, search etc.

I have overseen the operation and made sure the styling and everything that made the JoS beautiful, classic and gave it its character, has remained unaltered. The website is now also more phone friendly, appealing and beautiful, without sacrifice of its classic character. [half of the users of the internet are connected by their phones].
