

Re: Certain Type of Psychic Attack

The enemy is really doing it the intruder way. For myself, my mind is mostly empty most of the time. I do not actually think of something and when I do, I think of Satanic things or things of concern, or generally good things, things that I will do, or I have intuitive thoughts of sorts. Through this telepathic game the enemy tries to hurt our Satanic integrity and what we're building. Never believe such bullshit is yourself. I mean sometimes they can really get in and really project a lot of things in your head, that are not yours, you know these are not yours, but some people freak out because they later go and blame themselves; which is exactly what the enemy desires. They will try to backup what they put into your head with emotions and they are not stupid. A sign of this is trying to feel Satan or feel your own emotions and feeling blocked or being out of tune with your emotions. Meditate on your aura if you find you're falling for any of this and engulf yourself in Satanic energy. Cut the links as HP Vovim Baghie has posted on about.

These could range from thoughts against Satan, to anything else. Bear in mind that the more enclosed your own mentality is, your own psyche, the less the enemy can get in. The more things are programmed in the wrong way, or dross that isn't weeded out, is a sure-go for the enemy to go and try to fuck you up from this. Doesn't matter, if any thought is against you or your Satanic bond with Satan, fear, insecurity, doubt, plain shit, just ignore it. Or just reply with an Enochian key. If they see you get outraged and you attack, this is something they do not expect. They expect you to sit down on self-hate, self-loathing and feeling like a dumbass for their own works. You must know deep within that you really aren't the source, given you're honest and of Father Satan, you should know beyond any doubt that you belong to Him.

I am saving this reply, putting it in my folder. I do what you have suggested from time to time, but now that I think about it, there is something to be written in my journal every day or two. I don't really get attacks, but avalanches of thoughts that are not mine, and I have trouble thinking my own thoughts from time to time. I find that the enemy can mimic to an extent my voice and the voices of others, as well as their vibrations (but poorly enough, it seems. I have to stick my "feelers" out and look twice.) I mostly get harassment, but it's nothing I cannot handle.

Hail Satan!

I have had similar attacks as well, some very recent, but they only "scratch the surface" so to speak, nothing can penetrate my faith and knowledge in Satan, and I have experiences from Satan to thank for that, both before and after I dedicated.

However, something THAT HAS HELPED ME IMMENSELY (which I got the idea from the JoS):

Keep a notebook and record everything and any way Father Satan, the Demons and the Powers of Hell have helped you and affected your life for the better.

Breakthroughs in meditation, new knowledge, spiritual experiences, personal experiences, so on and so forth... ANYTHING AND EVERYTHING!

Trust me, when your down (attacked), and you pick that booklet up, it will bring tears to your eyes or make you cry. That part I know from experience!

HAIL SATAN!!!!

HAIL THE DEMONS OF HELL!!!!
