

Le Pen

Le Pen won the first round of the elections in France, ending up second in the exit poll. This is positive. Not in itself, but for reasons which we will explain as we go.

Again, let's not fool ourselves that this is not one large, controlled joke. We don't have to repeat the same crap with the Trump deal. Let this for people who are stupid and don't know how it works, or who like to swallow fake hope every day.

Le Pen, same as Trump, doesn't represent anything else but that the people are waking up. This is the only important thing. The fact that jews have had to get to this point, is extremely important. This shows that the enemy is damned if they do, damned if they don't.

At this point this is just winning time and trying to assess damage that is already going on within the enemy system. It's far from a 'solution', and it's far from the 'end'. Humanity will have to be betrayed and attacked more in order to finally get it.

The solutions are two and they are very simple, until further notice. Spiritual warfare, and biopolitics. Spiritual warfare will push things to lock-down situations as these situations now. The enemy has to make all this mess they are making, simply to win time and save their ass from the mass rage of the masses. Remember, the enemy is also a master of creating false 'saviors' in everything, and supposed heavenly solutions.

It seems the next plan of the jews is to try to assess the damage of their system, with false nationalism, and try to create something out of this all. This will not succeed, but they also don't have another choice either, as the world massively is waking up. Any way they go, it's to our benefit.

Unlike most people, jews know history, and they know it well. If they keep pushing with their immigration and other things, they are going to wind up under the deadly anger and hatred of the masses.

In short, if they don't make any seemingly crap changes to waste the time of people, and pull this anger elsewhere such as in hopes of a fake 'change', they are done with. This thing they keep doing in their history, and this is the time where things go 'wrong' and have cost them everything, but without this time, their agenda cannot proceed at all.

The jews will again in the press, pretend they are endangered, and that their life is at stake, and other crap they always do, such as with Trump. Then they will cry enough, like it's anudda shoah, and when Le Pen is on her knees or drops the mask (same outcome), they will drop the veil as they did with Trump, and they will move forward with whatever their agenda is, which will EVENTUALLY backfire in a damning way for them.

They will paint some Swastikas on their synagogues, and the rest of the stuff. Shlomo will punch Rabbi Nathanael in the face, and they will say that Le Pen is the new Hitler and the rest of the crap goes. This is because the jews are very aware that anti-Semitism is rising, and that they are hated worldwide. So, they create some false idols and false hopes to their defence. This is needless to say perfect for us, as either way, the jews will be unmasked more.

They are basically pulling the same exact operation as they did with Trump. Let's not forget how many millions did wake up as a result of Trump.

You will see Ms. Le Pen and how she will be either 'normalized' as Donald, or something similar, even if she wins. I personally think it's highly possible she will win. Win or not, she will be the second largest party, and if she doesn't win these years, she will in the next.

Her party is also chock filled with jews. Let's not forget Le Pen's father was a heavy anti-Semite as well, and she rebuked him away from the party. So, her internal motivations may be different. However, I tend to believe she will just go down the route of normalization, same as Trump.

Notice how before elections, everyone has to kiss the hand of the jews to get in power, i.e., admit their holohoax, and pledge their allegiance to them. After this process is said and done, they are allowed to 'run' and even 'win'. This is because the jews control the planet at this point.

Bio-politics is basically to keep in mind the living and actual living situation of your people/race, spreading the correct morality necessary to survive (such as waking up people to the perils of race mixing, jews, etc.), and there is no need for political leadership for this to happen, just waking up the masses and education. This forms the greater framework for anything else to happen.

For now, there is no reason for misplaced hope and later disappointments. There is only a reason to work, and to stay strong in doing what we have been doing, spiritually and intellectually. This is a war of spirit and information, and only lastly will there happen any material changes that will lead in the end of the peril that humanity is undergoing and is dragged off at this point.

There is no need to deal false hope, but there is definitely a need for us to keep fighting and be proud on how things are ending up that way.

The fight continues on Comrades...
