

Pacts With Demonic Entities? - Answers & Quick Path

High Priest Hooded Cobra 666

January 02, 2023

[angramainyu] wrote:

I notice that there are no Demonic Pact services here. Are the Demons against this? (Belial told a person on Discord to contact me a few years back. Which is how we met. I got a pact done with a group online, and Belial showed up, saying he was pleased with the request, and also said to keep spreading the information, as I have been doing.). Belial keeps showing up, all by Himself. So I know this is NOT personal mental issues, and such.

The Demons are not beings you can just gain the attention from because you just randomly read in a book they will be your servants, or because of Discord.

The foundational teachings of JoS are taken from adepts and those who are advanced enough will understand what is stated here to be correct.

JoS members and everyone here is growing, but on a whole different situation where it's like a very specific type of school here.

Most of the statements about "pacts" and so on are fake, quite often exaggerations. Certain lesser entities can initiate "pacts" which are like agreements, but these fall very short compared to Demons or the Gods which are of extreme power. The reasons here are many but most often they have to do with taking certain things too far.

People take things too far on the lying territory and confuse others, due to misplaced understanding. Where jewish authors are concerned, both ignorance and vile intent is at play, so one must be very aware.

As one can understand, even in your LHP or whatever place you are from, the Demon only showed you positive intentions and put you to do a decent task for the Gods, or as decent as "you" can understand. They are definitely not evil.

Belial is putting you on a direction to grow and to do something meaningful, or a connection is made in that regard. Demons can do this. In fact, that is why they help humanity in the first place.

Falsehoods from the LHP make many people think the wrong ways and take things too far. Adding lies, drug induced nonsense, and complete lack of humility and realistic will to advance, has created monstrosities on the so called "LHP".

Demons then if they care about someone, they take you to a serious place, like the Joy of Satan, which is the most serious place to learn about them. Of course, as most people are not yet on point, some accept this and some deny this. Even Pagans are led here more often than not, to find the next step to fully take on the initiatory processes.

They know what you know and what you don't know, but one has to also understand this and see how they want to make their choices to grow further.

As I stated in another post there is very definite knowledge that is both experiential and sourced, to know. Regardless as most people don't want to hear the Truth and they just want to hear nonsense, one pays only on the individual level, maybe other few people in Discord who smoke weed and think they are "THE" shit will pay too; but in the end, even in these situations, the Gods can expose you to proper things, to turn you into an actual disciple.

In the original topic, there are no discrediting of experiences, just an arrayed guide to know one's place. Honesty goes a long way. The greatest penalty one can do to block the Gods out of their life is to do purposeful lying or mistranslation of their experiences. To avoid the accident of mistranslation and misplacement, I have to explain what I have to explain.

One should never in their sane mind make the Gods enemies by creating and procreating nonsense. That's why they lead many people to JoS after being initially into confused states, to help them see things better. One accepts and moves forward when ready. The Gods are not in a rush.

In Spiritual Satanism the Dedication solves anything in regards to individual Demons, yet it's very common for a God to actually hold a student for lifetimes as strong bonds are formed. One might experience an attraction to the God instantly when they read the JoS list.

But that is not always the case, yet one will always have a Guardian presiding over them whom they will either know in time or will act in ways one might require further development to see.

The LHP is also disgusting on the topic of bragging about this. Stopping of bragging is a first and primary step in the positive direction.

The case of underdeveloped humans are those of a waiter that got a smile from the US President or the Intergalactic Presidential Council, thinking now they are married or they will be given the Nuclear Codes.

Get off the high non-existent horses, accept JoS and start practising to make the Gods your friends with utmost respect. A degree of self respect coupled with reverence is necessitated here. These misplaced traits keep people back and need to be abolished.

Reverence and respect is key in this process and in most "groups" people take this too far in the wrong direction. I only responded here as I can tell that you have real interest. From what I can see, you are fond of Lord Belial.

Of course this will likely not be understood, until some people spend 20 and 30 years in complete nonsense, until they come with their tail up their ass finally having accepted the reality. Granted the century brings with it utter delusion of the era of Kali, that is the case.

Regardless in this climate I have to mention the Truth to do my duty to our family and the disciples of the Gods.