

Satan and the Gods Can Heal You, but You Must Let Them

HP Hooded Cobra 666

March 24, 2022

Over the years, I have been standing alongside many of our own who have experienced severe damage, trauma, attacks, and the list goes. This is never a pleasant thing to encounter.

Father Satan and the Gods can heal you. They are the source of healing. All the meditations, the structuring of the mind, the cleaning, the freeing the soul - all of this is meant to heal you. It was given with this goal in mind.

It is even sadder that some people, sometimes do run away from this. You will not heal this way. We are delaying the inevitable because we are foolish, and oftentimes as human beings, don't understand what is in our own interest.

Then, after we grow in wisdom, we look back and understand we have done a big mistake, and cost ourselves a lot of wasted time - all due to our own fault.

In fact, this is just waiting for you to return and to heal yourself. If you don't do this now [which you have this great, once in many lifetimes opportunity in JoS] then these problems will haunt you in the next life, and in the next of the next. Do not allow this to happen, take this matter seriously.

When we are wounded, we don't understand the primary reason for healing. Moments of weakness, fear, doubt, or insecurity, can bring these up for us to address. Most people simply run away from this, adding to their problems, but Spiritual Satanists must turn and face all of this because you truly CAN do this.

This situation of falsehood might also reach a point where our wounds are not even understood at all, such as when we have ignored them for too long. As one can see, many of the Gods specialize in healing. This has to do with the spiritual healing of the soul. Any internal, emotional, and psychological damage, can indeed be healed.

In regards to the material, science, and other practices can help you. No matter what this world throws at you, however, you can have a perfectly sane and healthy soul. This takes time and effort, but it is worth it.

The Serpent will rise for those who have fully healed themselves.

A secret code in regards to "Healing the Soul" is also the creation of the Temple of the Soul, i.e., to develop the Soul. Progressively, peace, serenity, and inner health will be yours. And these cannot be taken away from you ever again.

When your dues have been paid, then this will be your reward, and your exit from this hospital that we call "life", you will move onward into true and real life. The "second coming" and the "rebirth" is actually describing this very procedure. What is needed here is to work on one's self, to become new, to be born again.

If anyone has meditated here and experienced a moment of bliss or inner healing, then you will understand what this message here means. This relief when a blockage is removed, or this relief when you have finally vented and successfully moved out all this boggling down sludge from your soul. If you haven't felt this, yes, it totally exists, and is possible. Do not give up.

Many of you also have been facing stupid doubts and all sorts of other things that occur from internal psychological damage. The Gods and anyone that is of the Gods is going to understand this to the necessary extent.

Yes, we live in a world where carnage and distrust is basically the norm. We must protect from this, but one must not forget their real origins. The Gods don't behave as many of the people one has in mind do. If one joined the Gods, one must accept this new standard.

For those who have had a positive experience with them, you must nourish this and allow yourself to take a breather, knowing that not everything in this universe is based on psychotic corruption.

Yes, the Gods can be trusted, and they are beyond the need to do any evil to human beings whatsoever. The Ancient Philosophers kept repeating that the Gods/Demons are "Agathoi" or "Noble", for lack of a better translation, and they are also "Therapontes" or "Healers". The Gods have everything and they only want others to grow into a state of self-healing too.

To understand this fully, however, one must cleave closer and closer to them, and allow themselves to rise to a level where they can see past the giant mountain of fear, doubt, uncertainty, and inner disease. This takes time, but it is attainable.

The Gods understand all of this, and the Guardian Demon ascribed on you will help you. Patiently, they will work with you. The sooner you start listening and start applying meditation, the better for you. The more one flees from this procedure, the worse it is.

Lastly, HPS Maxine has mentioned before about the soul and how the soul carries "Engravings" into it.

The mantras, meditations, memories, everything you do, is inscribed into the soul. You take this with you into this and the previous lifetime. After the soul is unlocked, it can be worked on, and after it's worked on, it can be healed. Things that constitute pains, can be removed, and things that constitute blessings, are with you still to increase.

In the same way one carries wounds and other problematic things, one can heal them, and later one can keep carrying positivity, light, and vibrancy, but also inner health, wealth, and wisdom.

We are sitting between two sides, and one must pick the good side, and the side of healing. Let the Gods heal you, and let them help you, as their son and daughter, because the Gods are kind and they will help their children.