Everyone here has to keep in mind that all the information of the JoS, has been for centuries nothing else but "Forbidden" information. The penalty of having this knowledge was death.

Generations passed without people knowing any of it. As a result, after centuries, whole countries, peoples and Nations have dwindled, like trees that were left without their much needed water. The same goes for individual souls.

Now, it is out. The well is here and open, and those who want can drink. The second category is those destined to drink - if you have been brought here, you will understand this in your heart.

In regards to how we are treated for sharing this information, we are like black sheep, renegades, many other things that the average person would label us as: Nothing positive.

We will change this sentiment in time. People will change their mind over this. It will take time, but eventually, humanity, or at least those who matter, will understand. It's important first however, that we ourselves understand it.

Regardless, that is against their own interest, but they don't understand their own interests, as many of them have effectively no self-awareness.

This knowledge has been an inheritance of the spiritual sons and daughters of the Gods. It's part of being part of this spiritual family. It's more than a curriculum. It's the inheritance the Gods give to their children.

One must remember, no matter how difficult times they might face, or how good times, that they are always part of this family. This knowledge is a gift, and it must be utilized for betterment of one's self and advancement.

People who do not take this seriously in this path, are doing a great mistake to themselves. You can do it, and you know you can do it - yet sometimes the mind can interfere. It's important for the soul and heart to overreach the mind, control it, and do what is necessary. The Gods love us for our potential, and we need to actualize this.

When you do magick and spirituality, the mind may tend to forget. After a point, quite a few people take things for granted. Nothing of this is for granted. This Divine Knowledge could be lost, were it not for people to preserve it, defend it, but above all, practice it.

We here have a community to hold together, so that this knowledge lives on.

This knowledge is like the egg of a phoenix, eventually, it will hatch again and give life to the people that practice it. Those who practice, know it already. Others will find in time. This knowledge is pure power, and also, separates all of you here, from the people that do not know. One therefore becomes even more different to the people outside. Wisdom is advised in using this.

You must also bear in mind, that those who are accomplished and keep practicing, *WILL* receive the fruit of labors of what they try. It always comes. It just takes, as with any other application of knowledge, time.

The most joyous time in Spiritual Satanism, is when one uses the knowledge provided by Father Satan, and advances in one's life and existence. In this path, you regain your soul, mind, spirit, and control over your being and destiny. Eventually, power over other affairs.

It must also be remembered, that each and every one of us here, is a guardian to this knowledge, not only so that it's not adulterated and ruined [the enemy poisons the true knowledge, this is why we labor intensively to give out only evaluated True Knowledge]. We are, by the mandate of the Gods, also destined to preserve it.

The best way to preserve this and care for this is to apply. Then, it is to share and inform [within the context of safety for the era] about the existence of this knowledge. Eventually this knowledge will give birth to a newer and more beautiful world.

As a final note, all Spiritual Satanists, despite of how events may turn [life can be chaotic], are all invited here for a very specific reason. One of this, is because the Gods want to give to the souls that have been with them in the past, the knowledge to live and rise again.

It does not matter what has been going on in one's life - you can turn this around with this. Practice is essential, but also character building.

Just entering this place should be seen in the eye of the beholding Spiritual Satanist, as a gift from the Gods themselves. Many could in theory deserve this, no doubt, in this world, but not everyone may be given this.

We are all tied by bond of the Gods, divine knowledge, a mission, a soul brotherhood.
