

Attacks on Forum/Group - And Spiritual Warfare

As many of you have noticed, lately there has been increased psychic traffic from the enemy. That is to be expected.

Much of it gives an air of desperation. This is reflected also in many governments. And this is only the beginning of many other things.

It has been going back and forth. The enemy is clearly feeling the effects of the warfare, they can't stand it. As a result, they react.

Looking back in the years, we've come a huge way, and we did all of this together here. We're going stronger and stronger and stay united always.

Everything the enemy has said about the "Devil" doing, it's what they do. Since they chant curses all day long at this time, one must be aware and know that this is the case. Negativity, strife, arguments, anything divisive or problematic, may be more at this time than usual.

Everyone must protect themselves efficiently and also participate on the schedule. This will make sure one receives proper defense. Those who cower and don't participate in active warfare against the enemy, are making a huge mistake. They are in effect allowing the enemy to ruin them.

Azazel also told me recently, that the enemy is "Going to sow discord". He showed me a lot of levels in regards to this. Some of it has been directed here, but most of this is going to be directed to the world. We're going to offset the wave of this.

We will see this socially too [it's already happening with vaccinated/unvaccinated etc.], but apparently the sacrifices they are doing are directed in other places, including against us here. They are raising major unbalanced energy of upset, suffering etc. Many suffering focused events and other events of fears will of course keep being used, in the enemy's attempt to maintain desperately their system of spiritual slavery.

The damage they have been dealt however is by now irreparable.

We are strong so nothing has touched us or affected us in any serious way. There is much of this going back and forth, in the back end of all this. Make sure to save the schedule we are following for the next month, in case any site temporarily is shot down. Up to now, they have only failed.

Lastly, people must remain focused. It cannot be emphasized a lot, but right now, participating in the Spiritual Warfare Schedule, is not only to attack, offset, or help others - it's also about helping one's self. Whether one likes it or not, their spiritual affinity and wanting to raise spiritually, since it's taken very seriously by people here, is something that the enemy is not pleased about.

We have been growing constantly, and there is no reason for someone to not use the means in our disposal to slash the enemy. Generations have been helpless. We aren't, and we must make use of this opportunity to the fullest.

We stay strong and we keep going.

HAIL SATAN!!!
