

"I WANT IT NOW"

HP Hooded Cobra 666

September 12, 2012

Well, people keep raving and jumping around saying about how much power they want to have and how they want things done right now. Others rave about how they want the perfect mate or the perfect house, all at once. Others want to become suddenly famous and have a large circle of people at once. This is especially with new people. It's a common belief that if something happens fast it's better. The universe is not like this and it does not work in the fast lane. Beings evolve over millennia of years and to acquire simple genetic traits it can even take a lifetime of living and constantly requiring the usage of this skill, as to be imprinted. Changes in nature are gradual and same goes for Humans. Depending on the power of one's soul or one's ability, the change will come sooner, more powerfully- but the key point here is that most changes are gradual. This is a natural law, unless an event is loaded with extreme potential power and grows wild all around the place [like a tsunami or whatever]. Same with spirituality.

If someone has worked hard on a past life for something it will bloom on this one often suddenly. The change will show up because it has been worked upon and is still there, waiting to manifest. This is like the tsunami. Now someone trying to cause change right now, that hasn't been worked upon, will need to be gradual. Depending on their own power and adaptability, openness and opposition, it will come about faster or later. It IS coming if you're working with it. This is mainly posted for workings of money where people get mad and want instant results, or for healing which both take time- but doesn't matter how much time they take, if you're very strong spiritually, you will make both come about faster. So, let's think of it that way. People dedicate and expect the world to fall into their hands. Let's say tomorrow, you were a Grand God and could really control anything, all at once and that whole nations were under your thumb to control. With your current understanding, as I would, as anyone else that is not trained to this, would probably fail. More instant and powerful manifestation comes in pair with a superconscious understanding. Let's say tomorrow you found the person you dream about.

Would you satisfy them too? Would it all flow smoothly? Is everything set up? Are you ready to give up anyone else for them or whatever? That's what I mean. Now I don't say not going after your desires, BUT if something takes time to come to you, use this time for your advancement and not complaints. Prepare. So, you can rejoice in it even more and actually expand your being, consciousness and understanding by its existence. Not just by having it here. Don't be a fool. By raising your energy and your being, growing in Father Satan our understanding expands to what we really want and we are guided to increase our influence and capabilities. What's perfect? in unison with all other Satanists. People asking for all this power are in reality just asking for stability which their mind is lacking, in other words, thirst. Some want all women to be their own and have sex with them. For instance, they don't see the other person as a person and they treat them like a piece of meat. Such level of power to have influence over other conscious beings, may not come with this understanding. It's a bit of a natural safety. People who have too much power and too much immaturity often end up badly. Like in the above about women, this is not only RHP thinking [not thinking better than an islamic fool, treating women as pieces of meat] but is totally a joke in the eyes of a being who realizes the value in every being, and their depth and is actually CAPABLE of both realizing and going into that depth. Because it's in the depth of a desire, that the desire is fulfilled. And to reach that depth, you will need to... be able to get there, by expanding your being.

Another case is, when one wants someone dead. Many people have extreme hate [like myself] and when someone wrongs them, they instantly want them dead without a second thought. What would that mean? That would make life a living nightmare. Go on your pace, get stronger, self-knowledgeable, realize yourself and realize your reality. The more intelligent and mature will be able to yield more power safely and more powerfully.

HAIL SATAN!!!!!!!

So, to all the Faithful workers and our people of the Gods, expand your mind and consciousness, gratificate yourself in every aspect, do it truly and deeply, pursuit happiness through intelligence, not ignorance!

HAIL SATAN!!!!!!!!!!!!